Fish New Crop for Farmers

By J. C. Tillman
Associated Press Writer

The American fishing industry, faced with increasingly stiff competition from foreign production, is in deep trouble.

Many American dirt farmers are in deep trouble too, because of the shrinking list of items they can produce without federal controls.

A couple of disconnected signs of the times?

Not at all, says the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries in Washington.

In fact, the bureau says, the dirt farmers may help each other back to prosperity through an old but under-exploited cash crop—fish grown in ponds.

The bureau's 42-page report on the fishing industry's decline in the past 10 years says it is out this way:

For the dirt farmer, regular crops of fish could mean a slice of a market running into the hundreds of millions of dollars annually.

For the fishing industry, a steady flow of bass, catfish, trout, carp and buffalo could mean a swing away from the trend that has left such unlikely nations as Peru and Panama ahead of the United States.

The bureau's report listed fish farming as only one of the solutions to problems of the nation's ailing fisheries industry. It touched on 13 points, including more federal aid, a review of tariffs and a stepped-up research program.

The report dates the start of the fishing industry's trouble around the end of World War II when the United States began encouraging its allies, and its old enemies too, to take advantage of the possibilities offered by commercial fishing.

It worked so well that not only Peru and Panama, but also Japan, Mexico, Canada and West Germany lead the United States.

Each of them finds the United States a most eager customer. Imports more than doubled from 1950 to 1962.

The prospects of the United States' fishing industry reached a new low of sorts only a few weeks ago when James Ackert of the Atlantic Fisherman's Union commented: "If things keep going like they are now, we won't have an industry in another five years."

He made the statement in calling for a 200-mile territorial water limit—instead of the present three-mile limit—to keep foreign fleets from working productive American waters.

Roy Prewitt, a member of the special advisory council to the bureau, is a strong advocate of fish farming as a means of reviving the fisheries industry.

Farmers can grow fish in ponds on the same land that once supported crops of cotton, soybeans and rice, he points out.

Further, farmers can turn rough, rocky terrain or wooded areas—hopeless settings for the old seed crops—into profitable sites for fish production.

Prewitt makes it clear that more would be involved than simply the farmer's decision to grow fish and the industry's decision to prosper by it.

For one thing—and it's no small factor—the industry would have to educate the American housewife to the delights of these fish she's been serving only when hubby brought them home from lake or stream.

There are other obstacles, too. The industry would have to overcome regulatory problems on game fish—is a bass for sport or for market? The industry would need extensive research for improved techniques in production. It would need market research to guide a campaign for momentum.

But the results could be rewarding. Prewitt notes that one rural state, Arkansas, has 3.5 million idle acres suitable for fish farming.

W. F. Carbine, a regional director of the bureau, estimates that Arkansas' acreage could produce a billion pounds of fish annually, worth as much as $100 million.

Arkansas Has 6.5% Increase

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Census Bureau reported Friday that Arkansas' population increased from 1,786,274 on April 1, 1960, to 1,902,000 on July 1, 1963, an increase of 6.5 per cent.

Speculation In Red Chinese Nuclear Test

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—There's a real Chinese puzzle connected with Red China's recent nuclear weapons test: Who were the scientists who masterminded the venture?

The Red Chinese have given no clues, nor have the U.S. State Department or the Atomic Energy Commission.

But there has been considerable speculation in newspaper stories in the United States, Britain and France—with most of the theorizing centering on two men.

These two scientists—whose backgrounds make it very likely they were in on the project—are:

1. Ch'ien San-chiang, who heads the institute of nuclear physics at Peking and who worked in France during World War II on various research studies, including nuclear fission.

2. Hsue-shen Tsien, 55, who spent 20 years in the United States before being deported to Red China on allegations he had been a member of the Communist party before entering this country.

The trouble is, there have been so many variations in the published spelling of the names of this pair that a quick reading of the published reports might make it appear that a whole flock of Chinese scientists had been pinned down as members of the A-bomb cast.

The spellings given here are from the official catalogues of the U.S. Library of Congress—although library experts make no claims that they know these men were in on the A-bomb venture.

Language experts say the confusion stems largely from the fact that in different countries the transliteration of names from one language to another often results in different forms. Phonetics sometimes enters the picture, too; for example "Tsien" and "Chien" stand for the same name in different versions.

Spelling aside, it seems clear that if Hsue-shen Tsien was one of the Red China atom scientists, his American education must have come in handy, particularly if the Red Chinese start attaching nuclear weapons to rockets.

He came to the United States in 1934. He got a master's degree in aeronautical engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and at California Institute of Technology he got his doctorate in 1939 and later took part in government-sponsored rocket research. He became an associate professor at Cal Tech, and was chief research analyst at the famed Jet Propulsion Laboratory there.

He also is reported to have done atomic energy research while in this country.

The scientist consistently denied allegations that he had been a member of the Communist party before coming to the United States. For several years, Washington barred his departure because of his technical knowledge. But the ban was lifted Aug. 4, 1955.

Then, on Sept. 16, 1955, under a deportation order, he sailed away from the President Cleveland for Red China—and conceivably a place on the Red A-bomb team.

PSC Is Asked To Approve Merger

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Public Service Commission was asked Friday to approve a merger of Allied Telephone Co. and Berryville Telephone Co.

Allied asked permission to buy all of Berryville's capital stock for $288,500. The PSC said the owners of the stock were listed as Hugh R. Wilbourn, Charles W. Miller and Joe T. Ford.

1965 United Fund Drive Begins

The United Fund Campaign, in Hempstead county for 1965 got underway last Monday morning at the Diamond Cafe with a big boost from the local office of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

Shown in the picture is William B. O'Neal, wire chief for statement showing the amount pledged and paid from telephone company employees to Guy Grigg, campaign chairman.

This amount, according to Mr. O'Neal, is approximately $700 with more to come. The telephone company is setting up a payroll deduction plan for the fund this year and according to Mr. Grigg it will be one of the largest contributors for 1965.

Some other local business concerns are presently using the payroll deductions or plan to put it into effect this year, said Mr. Grigg. He urged all campaign workers, to make an effort to get their work done as soon as possible.

Susan Baker in Concert at So. State

Susan Baker

MAGNOLIA—The South Arkansas chapter of the American Guild of Organists will present Susan Baker, organist and choral assistant at First Baptist Church of El Dorado, in a concert of church music Tuesday, Nov. 10, at Southern State College.

The performance will begin at 8 p.m. in the Dolph Camp Fine Arts Recital Hall and is open to the public. It will include service music by Brahms, Pachelbel, Charles-Marie Widor, Gordon Young, Orlando Gibbons and other composers of religious music.

Mrs. Baker received her B.S. in Music Education from the University of Missouri where she was president of Sigma Alpha Iota, women's music fraternity, member of the University Singers and Symphony Orchestra, director of the Missouri B.S.U. choir and music director of Memorial Baptist Church at Columbia.

She also served as organist for the Saint Charles Avenue Baptist Church of New Orleans and earned her Master of Sacred Music degree from the New Seminary.

Mrs. Baker is currently a writer of Beginner Music Activity units for Church Musician Magazine, and has served on the Ridgecrest Music Conference faculty the past seven years and as organist for many other religious conventions and festivals.

The public is invited to her concert and no admission charge will be made, according to Robert Campbell, Southern State fine arts chairman.

Of Vice-Presidents Who Became Chiefs Only Half Won in Later Elections

By MARY ANITA LASETER
Star Feature Writer

President Lyndon B. Johnson is the 35th man to hold the most powerful office in the world, that of President inherited the chief executive's office as the result of the President's death. Of these only four successfully ran for President on their own, and they were the ones who have lived in the 20th century, T. Roosevelt, Coolidge, Truman, and L. Johnson.

The most confusing, misunderstood, and criticized method of electing our President, known as the Electoral College, resulted after rejections of proposals to let the people directly elect the President or for Congress to select him. Originally, electors voted for two persons for President. The one who received the majority of votes became the President, and the runner-up became the Vice-President.

It doesn't take much imagination to realize why that method had to be changed. It evolved after the first three elections, for it was then that a two-party system was formed. Oh, to be sure the two major parties have not always been Democrat and Republican. Our Presidents have included: Federalist, 2; Democrat-Republican (one party) 3; Nonpartisan, 1; Whig, 3; War Democrat, 1; (A. Johnson); Democrat, 11; Republican, 13.

Our recently elected President received a majority of the electoral votes, but such has not always been the case. When no candidate gets a majority, the election is thrown into the House of Representatives, and that has happened twice. Thomas Jefferson was the choice of the House in 1800, and John Quincy Adams was named thusly in 1824. One Vice-President failed to get a majority of votes and the decision was passed on to the Senate. He was R.M. Johnson and the year was 1836. You've heard it stressed how important each and every vote is? Well, Mr. Johnson knew it, for he failed by one vote to get a majority in the electoral college; but the Senate chose him in its decision.

Speaking of "squeakers," the Hayes vs. Tilden political campaign for 1876 was certainly in that category. What made it so difficult for the people to decide, both were honest, capable, and beyond reproach. Neither had any idea they would later be called a "stolen election." Of all people for that to happen! Nevertheless, an Electoral Commission had to be created by Congress to decide the disputed results. It gave Hayes 185 electoral votes and Tilden 184.

Campaigning has changed a lot since our first President was elected. Several early Presidents were chosen practically by unanimous vote of the people. George Washington and James Monroe were two such men. Mud slinging was "born" in the campaign which Andrew Jackson won in 1828, and huge rallies, free cider, torchlight parades and popular songs ushered in "Tippecanoe and Tyler too" in 1841. Both Benjamin Harrison and William McKinley did most of their campaigning from the front porches of their homes in Indiana and Ohio, respectively. F.D. Roosevelt was the first to make wide use of the radio as a means of campaigning, and Kennedy was the first to bring television to politics.

We in the United States have not had a woman as President. Yet, but we might in the future. After all, the women of the country control the votes.

When and if that day ever comes, she might very well have the integrity and the inflexible faith in the Union that Zachary Taylor had, but she could never match his lack of curiosity. In 1848 Taylor was nominated by mail, but he refused the letter because 10 cents postage was due. A woman would have found a dime somewhere or opened the first charge account at the Post Office or anything! But she would not have let a letter to her go unopened. There is always the possibility that free trading stamps are inside.

Farm Census Forms Now in the Mail

Questionnaires for the 1964 Census of Agriculture are now being mailed out to farmers (and ranchers) of Hempstead County, County Agent Calvin Caldwell reported today.

The forms are expected to reach the farmers within a few days. This will allow farmers a period of time to consult their 1964 business records in order to answer questions on the forms before census enumerators begin calling on the farmers to collect the forms. Best estimates for the year will be sufficient, to answer questions in cases where complete records for the year are not available, according to the county agent.

The visits by enumerators will start on November 23 in this county, according to the county agent.

Enumerators will call on every farmer in the district under his or her supervision, the county agent explained. At the time of the call, the enumerator will help the farmer complete answers to any questions in the form that the farmer was unable to answer, and will review the form to see that it is completely filled out.

By mailing the forms ahead of the visits, officials of the Bureau of the Census, an agency of the U.S. Department of Commerce, hope to save both time and effort.

The Census of Agriculture is taken every five years in the years ending in "4" and "9" to gather needed, up-to-date information on U.S. agricultural resources and production. Such information is vital in making decisions affecting many segments of the U.S. economy. Data gathered include the number and size of farms, number of persons living on farms, acreage and harvest of crops, a livestock and poultry inventory, information on farm equipment and facilities, and on income and some production expenditures.

States in Scramble for Plants

By Sam Dawson
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Many states are engaging in a frantic, costly scramble to attract new industries.

They are spending millions of dollars and much ingenuity to lure factories to their areas. And they are offering many inducements.

The advertisements, usually placed by state development agencies, stress such factors as nearness to markets, available labor supply, fast population growth, adequate transportation, pleasant living conditions and favorable tax structures.

Some states and cities float loans to provide sites and buildings for industries who will make their new homes there.

It's an outgrowth of the mushrooming move of industry to decentralize and get away from the old concentrations which came into being with the construction of railways and port facilities.

One estimate puts annual state spending on industrial advertising at $25 million a year.

At the beginning these ads concentrated on the business aspects of their areas. More recently they have begun to stress almost equally the desirability from a living standpoint, emphasizing climate and recreational possibilities.

Business Week magazine has conducted a plant site survey in which 1,000 executives of manufacturing industries in 19 cities were queried.

These executives were asked: Whether their company was investigating possibilities for new plant sites, or planned to do so in the next five years.

What general geographical areas would be considered in the event they did decide to select new plant sites.

What specific states, metropolitan areas or cities would be favored.

California, which has been conducting an intensive advertising campaign, came out on top.

States ranking just below California were Texas, Georgia and Illinois. Top-rated geographical areas included the South Atlantic, East-North Central, Pacific and Middle Atlantic.

Dr. Chappell to Speak Tuesday

Dr. R. H. Chappell, Texarkana pathologist, will show slides and tell of his experiences as a medical missionary to India to members of Alpha Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma. The meeting will be Tuesday, Nov. 10, at 3:45 p.m. in the community room of First National Bank. Mrs. Margaret Medders has arranged the program.

This program will be of special interest to the teacher group as it follows the program theme, "Changing Patterns in Other Cultures." It is designed to extend their understanding of the people involved in the changing culture of India as well as to view the impact these changes have on the role of education in the country.

Hostesses for the meeting will be Mrs. Nelle Clark and Mrs. Muriel McLarty.

Offbeat Thinkers Valuable

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Dr. Rodney Tillman, head of the National Education Association's department of elementary education, says offbeat thinkers are often creative and should be encouraged.

In a speech to the Arkansas Education Association's convention Thursday, Tillman reported on an experiment in which a photograph of a smiling airplane passenger with a faraway look on his face was shown to elementary school pupils. Most pupils, said the Minneapolis educator, interpreted the picture thusly: "He is returning from a successful business trip."

Governor To Set Execution Dates

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An affirmation of the death sentences of two Monticello Negroes was filed Friday with Gov. Orval E. Faubus, whose task it is to set the execution dates.

The U.S. Supreme Court last month denied further appeal by Orion Trotter and Albert Harris, who were convicted of raping a white school teacher in 1963.

The high court's denial in effect affirmed an Arkansas Supreme Court affirmation of the death sentences last March.

Teachers Plan Demonstration For More Pay

By PERRY MULLEN

ATLANTA (AP)—Rejection by voters of proposals to raise teachers salaries—for school financial difficulties—presented serious problems in at least four states today.

Teachers protested in a variety of ways in Oklahoma, Kentucky, Georgia and Louisiana. All schools in Louisville, Ky., are expected to be closed Monday because most of the teachers plan to take part in a protest demonstration against low pay.

About 140 Louisville teachers went on strike after voters Tuesday turned down a proposal for higher school taxes. The teachers, who are paid from $4,400 to $6,600 annually, are demanding a pay raise of $1,500—five times what the tax increase would have given them.

The Louisville Board of Education said the teachers are required to return to work by Tuesday. The teachers say they will not return until salary demands are met.

About 600 teachers in Midwest City, a suburb of Oklahoma City, voted for a holiday Monday. The Tulsa School Board called off classes there Monday for its 2,500 teachers, citing a "state of confusion and emotionalism."

Spokesmen for both groups said the one-day holiday was called to express disappointment over failure of voters Tuesday to approve four school proposals, including one to raise pay.

Oklahoma teachers now receive at least $3,800 a year and the defeated measure would have hiked the minimum to $4,400. The salary scale is higher in Tulsa, starting at $4,300.

Georgia's county school systems face the prospect of supplying more local money for schools or losing state supplements. The legislature approved a law this year requiring local systems to increase their share of school costs from 15 to 20 per cent.

The Georgia Board of Education notified school officials in Catoosa County, in northwest Georgia, that state funds would be cut off this month unless the local system raised $37,000. Nineteen teachers walked out at Lakeview High School in Ringgold, forcing the school to close. The 196 teachers at other schools in the county voted to walk out Nov. 25 unless provision is made to pay them.

Catoosa County citizens have started a campaign to raise school funds through private loans of $100 each from at least 375 persons to make up the local deficiency.

Louisiana teachers are asking $1,000 a year salary increases and plan a march on the capitol at Baton Rouge when the legislature meets Nov. 16. In New Orleans, 562 teachers voted in favor of a walkout and teachers in other sections of the state threaten walkouts if the legislature does not provide for higher salaries. The increases sought would cost about $48 million a year.

Main Lanes Of Hwy. Are Paved

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Acting Highway Director Ward Goodman said Friday that the main lanes of the new U.S. 65-167 south of Little Rock have been paved.

Goodman said the highway will not be opened to traffic until the road shoulders have been finished.

The $9,958,700 construction project, undertaken a little more than four years ago, will speed up traffic on an 11.1-mile section between Little Rock and Pine Bluff on U.S. 65 and between Little Rock and Sheridan on U.S. 167.

Johnson Asks Dillion To Stay At His Post

By ADREN COOPER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has asked Douglas Dillon to remain indefinitely as secretary of the treasury, informed sources said today.

Dillon, 55, is restless for a change after four years in the post but has made no decision, the sources said.

The Republican has held a variety of jobs in international affairs and finance since he entered government under then President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1953.

After the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, Dillon told Johnson he would stay until the new administration was well established. During the presidential election campaign, he said he still considered himself a liberal Republican. He openly attacked policies recommended by Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican nominee.

The secretary feels that good progress has been made in bolstering the domestic economy and stemming the flow of dollars abroad.

Two other key administration figures announced some time ago that they intend to quit their jobs shortly after the election—Dr. Walter W. Heller, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, and Robert V. Roosan, undersecretary of the treasury for monetary affairs.

The job of undersecretary of the treasury—the No. 2 position in the department—has been vacant since the resignation in March of Henry M. Fowler.

Dillon's father has been ill and there is a possibility the secretary will take over the investment banking business the elder Dillon founded.

A few years ago, Dillon, a multimillionaire, was quoted as saying no job in private life offers the satisfactions to be found in government service. He enjoyed the State Department troubleshooting assignments he was given during the Eisenhower administration.

If Dillon is seeking a challenge, he may find a great one in his present job. The treasury is scheduled to draw up proposals for excise tax cuts and new tax regulations regarding foundations next year.

Further income tax cuts may come in 1966. Also, the treasury still is wrestling with a shortage of coins, and the parallel problem of a dwindling supply of silver. The dollar outflow may have been slowed, but it has not been solved.

There have been some major policy disagreements between Dillon and Heller, although this apparently will have little bearing on Dillon's decision, especially since Heller definitely plans to resign. Heller usually is given credit for proposing the income tax cut as a means of bolstering the economy; the treasury is given a major share of the credit for pushing it through Congress.

Here Are Deer Check Stations

Here are the deer checking stations for the gun seasons, Nov. 9-14 and Dec. 14-19, as announced by Dale Bonds, Hempstead county game warden. Plans for a third deer season are indefinite at this time. Mr. Bonds said, but there will be an announcement at a later date.

Deer checking stations follow: Hope—Hope police station; Fulton—Logan's Grocery; McNab—Spates' Grocery; Saratoga—Corbell's Grocery; Washington—Chism's Grocery.

Ozan—Bingham's Grocery; Columbus—Middlebrooks' Grocery; Bingen—Byers' Crossroad Grocery; McCaskill—Wortham's Grocery; Blevins—Hampton's Grocery.

Spring Hill—Kidd's Grocery; Palmos—Rider's Grocery. Legal bucks only may be taken, Mr. Bonds cautioned. A legal buck is one with antlers 4 inches or longer, or one with forked antlers.

Rifles of .22 caliber are not permitted; neither are .410 shotguns. Hunters must use buckshot not smaller than No. 4 in shotguns. Mr. Bonds concluded.

Late Show Sat. at Saenger; Also Sunday & Monday

Debbie Reynolds expresses delight at the wedding ring given her by Harry Fennell in this scene from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," screen version in Panavision and color of the smash Broadway stage hit. Ed Begley, Jack Kruschen and Hermione Baddeley also star in the sang-and-dance filled story of America's most famous Cinderella.

Coming Soon to Saenger

Nancy Kwan watches Jill St. John's attentions to Robert Culp with a cold eye in this scene from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Honeycomb Hotel." Culp makes his screen debut in the Panavision and color romantic comedy, following his stage success in "Camelot," and the film also stars Robert Morse, comedy star of Broadway's "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying." Henry Levin directed.

Razorbacks Meet Rice Saturday

By BILL SIMMONS Associated Press Writer

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) Unbeaten and fourth-ranked Arkansas sends its versatile offense against the stout defense of Rice University in a Southwest Conference football clash here Saturday.

Quarterback Fred Marshall, tailback Jack Braswell and wingback Jim Lindsey all have rushed for more than 100 yards this season as the Razorbacks rolled to a 7-0 record.

Lindsey and ends Jerry Lamb, Bob Crockett and Richard Trail give Marshall top targets for passes.

Big Malcolm Walker, a 245-pound center, is the mainstay of the Owl defense, which has checked the opposition with 55 points this season. The Owls' lack of offense has left them with a 2-3-1 record.

Arkansas has scored 136 points and given up 57. Linebacker Ronnie Caveness is the defensive yoman for the Razorbacks.

Arkansas gave up 22 points in one game this season, but held all other foes to less than 14.

Rice lost to Stanford 34-7, but let no other foe score as many as seven points.

The Owl offense suffered another hardship when placement specialist Larry Rice became a doubtful participant because of a wrenched knee. He is second in scoring for Rice to halfback Gene Fleming's three touchdowns.

Shoots in Victory Over North Texas

DENTON, Tex. (AP) - The Arkansas freshmen, led by quarterback Gordon Norwood, waited until the final two minutes Thursday night before snatching a 20-13 victory over the North Texas State Freshmen.

The payoff touchdown came when Norwood hit David Hunt on the North Texas seven with a 30-yard throw and Hunt ran across.

North Texas led 13-6 going into the fourth quarter on a 69-yard pass from Ken Terry to Oscar Howard and a three-yard run by Larry Priestley.

Norwood first threw an 18-yard scoring pass to Hunt to close the gap to a single point, then with 2:02 on the clock whipped out his 30-yarder for victory.

No Delay in Season for Hunting Deer

By J. C. TILLMAN Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - Arkansas hunters will find the woods pretty dry when they go after the white-tail deer Monday - but the Game and Fish Commission has no intention of delaying the season.

Gus Albright, public information officer for the commission, said today the agency feels that the plans of too many hunters would be disturbed.

Many, he said, have had vacations arranged, and many out-of-state outdoorsmen make special plans for the Arkansas deer season.

The U.S. Weather Bureau's official figure for the state shows a rainfall of 38.17 inches to date this year, which is 2.92 inches below normal.

The state's squirrel season was delayed briefly last year by the commission, when Arkansas had less than half of its normal rainfall and the state was plagued with a rash of serious woods and grass fires, but the deer season was not affected.

The Nov. 9-14 gun period is for legal bucks only, except in the White River Refuge, where

Bobcats And Warren Battle To 7-7 Tie

By CARTER HARDAGE Hope Star Sportswriter

The Bobcats slopped to a 7-7 tie with the Warren Lumberjacks last night in the Lumberjacks' home wallow.

The game, which virtually sapped the 4AA crown for Hope, was more or less a cross between a Chinese fire drill and a water polo match. Both the fans and the players were soaked to the skin by the rain that started before the game and continued until long past its end.

The field was a sea of mud and mire, it could hardly be told that these were two of the top teams in regional play.

The whole thing was a sopping fiasco. But such is football. The Mudball Express started with a bang. Hope received the kick and on the first play from scrimmage, Buddy Jordan sent a short pass to Eddie Aslin, who romped twenty-two yards down to the Warren 36. The Bobcats penetrated to the 32, but were stopped by an off sides penalty.

The first quarter passed without a serious threat by either team. They merely punted back and forth as best they could and tried to look respectable in the mire.

The Lumberjacks opened the second period of play by racking up three quick first downs behind the running of workhorse fullback David McMurry. They bogged down at the Hope 39, however, and had to punt.

The first half came to a dismal end with the score standing at 0-0.

The Lumberjacks got the second half kick, and McMurry almost broke into the clear. On the next play, McMurry got the ball, but he was hit hard at the line of scrimmage, and the ball went straight up. Harry Ray McMahen was waiting when it came down, and fell on the pigskin at the 50 to give Hope possession.

Long gainers by Johnny Samuels, Ronnie Ingram, and Jerry Burnett and passes from Jordan to Parris and Aslin moved the Cats to within striking distance at the five. Ingram piled over left tackle from the two on fourth down for the tally. Burnett added the point after, and Hope went into a 7-0 command with 7:12 left in the third quarter.

All of the players and two of the more boisterous officials joined in a wild mud fight to bring the quarter to a close with the Bobcats out front by a 7-0 margin.

Burnett returned a McMurry punt eighteen yards to the Warren 13-4.

Hunting is banned in portions of Benton, Clay and Faulkner counties and in all state refuges and parks.

No dogs may be used in Conway County south of the Arkansas River; Craighead, Mississippi and Poinsett counties, Yell County north of Ark. 10 and all federal refuges.

Regulations on use of beagles only in certain counties and shotguns only in others are outlined in the 1964 edition of hunting rules issued by the commission.

Arkansas' second gun season for deer will be Dec. 14-19. Albright said a "big kill" is expected in the state this year, but due to shorter seasons in several areas, no record is predicted and the kill may not reach the level of 1963.

armistice day

Swords must give way to ploughshares, and Spears must be refashioned into Pruning-hooks. Hatchets must be buried, and rifles converted into crosses. We must oppose, with all our might, the antagonisms that are growing between peoples of the earth. International conflict must be solved; world peace must come. May we have an Armistice of long duration. May We have Peace.
